Update on the Implementation of Orange County Transportation Authority Corridor Studies

Between 2006 and 2010, five corridor studies were completed by the Orange County Transportation Authority. These studies focused on major travel corridors within Orange County and between neighboring counties. They also identified, evaluated, and recommended improvement options to address mobility challenges. Substantial progress has been made with respect to implementation of the studies' recommended improvements, and a status report is provided for the Board of Directors' information.
